TENUTA SAN GUIDO

Tenuta San Guido is an Italian wine producer in the DOC Bolgheri in Toscana, known as a producer of "Super Tuscan" wine.

Today, the narrative of Tenuta San Guido's three wines is based on three different expressions of the same territory: Sassicaia, from which it all began, and Guidalberto, which after a genesis of over twenty years has a recognisable identity and style. These are the first two wines, a different expression of the same land. Le Difese, the latest addition, is a well-made and very pleasant wine that gracefully welcomes the selections of the other two wines in addition to Sangiovese, which shows its typically Tuscan backbone.

2017 Le Difese

490

Le Difese's first vintage was 2002. It is the latest addition at Tenuta San Guido. It is an extremely pleasant, smooth and versatile wine that welcomes a selection of grapes blended with Sangiovese, while it exemplifies its qualities when paired with food. Le Difese takes its name from the teeth of the wild boar, depicted in gold on the label.

2019 Guidalberto

750

Guidalberto marks the new millennium: the 2000 vintage appears on the market with less pretense than Sassicaia and with a more approachable drinkability, while showing a great aging potential. It is not intended to follow in the footsteps of Sassicaia, but rather be a wine that shows another expression of the Tenuta San Guido territory.

The label depicts the Oratory of San Guido and the wine is named after the family ancestor Guidalberto della Gherardesca, an agricultural pioneer in the Bolgheri area.

SASSICAIA TENUTA SAN GUIDO

The 1968 vintage saw the debut of Sassicaia, a courageous wine that at the time, broke away from the standard way of making Tuscan Wine. The wine is named after the stony soil which it comes from, and, by its nature, is destined to go far.
